Discover what will make EHMA Lugano 2020 unique

Imagine yourself seeing the world with the eyes of a child and a thousand dreams to fulfil. We have invited yesterday's children to the stage, those who have achieved their ambitions and made their dreams come true, becoming the passionate enchanters whom we know today.

"When I was little, I didn't miss any of the Apollo missions on TV. Of course, my dream was to go to space. Today, new technologies give me great hope that this can happen."

"As a child I was frail and light, I seemed destined to be a dancer. On New Year's Day, one of my passions was to watch the famous concert on TV and dream of being on stage dancing."

"My passion has always been travels. As a child I dreamed of becoming an explorer and when I was just about 30 years old this became true thanks to 18 unforgettable months on a sailing boat."

Did you know that?

- A statue of William Tell, signed by the great local artist Vincenzo Vela, has been welcoming the visitors on the lakefront of Lugano long before the famous monument of the Swiss national hero was erected in Altdorf.
- Lugano was home to large marine dinosaurs which swam freely 240 million years ago. The ancient history of Monte San Giorgio, just outside the city, earned it the title of Unesco World Heritage Site in 2003.
